REPUBLICAN PRESS

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin it is evident that "the Roosevelt manifesto has fallen flat as compared with the tremendous popular about which some of his supporters had expected would follow its announcement," and Mr. Taft retains the confidence of his party.

Of the Pittsburgh papers the Leader is for Roosevelt and against all "reactionaries" who differ with it as to the "silly custom or tradition" against a Presidential third term. The Pittsburgh Press also upholds Mr. Roosevelt in the "sincerity of his devotion to the principles of true popular self-government." The Pittsburgh Gazette-Times calls on Republicans to "rally to the support of Taft," and the Pittsburgh Dispatch defends Mr. Taft's "fidelity to principles, irrespective of political effect."

The Harrisburg Star-Independent denounces Mr. Roosevelt as "by his own showing, the most undeserving man in American politics;" the York Dispatch foresees that the country "is to be interested, occasionally amused, often delighted with Colonel Roosevelt's acts until he is mentally or physically incapacitated," but prefers Taft as "safe;" and the Scranton Tribune-Republican ventures the statement that "the occasion calls for an earnest and conscientious plebiscite."

As a whole the Baltimore press is hostile to Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy. The Evening Sun holds that, "Judging by his latest pronouncements, he is not a Republican." The Star agrees with the Sun and says that Mr. Taft will be renominated and re-elected. The Baltimore American classes Mr. Roosevelt as "an arrant, even dangerous demagogue," and proposes that the Republicans offer him as a gift to the Democrats.

In the Middle West.

Turning to Ohio, the Toledo Blade opens a three-column article in large type with the blazing statement: "Roosevelt and victory. Taft and defeat. That is the choice that confronts the Republican party in the State and nation today." To this challenge the Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune calmly replies: "To enter the presidential fight with Theodore Roosevelt as the nominee would be to begin the campaign on the defensive and to end it with disaster." The Columbus State Journal is for Taft. The Cincinnati Times-Star, the property of Charles P. Taft, remarks: "It is not the President but Theodore Roosevelt who has changed since 1908. The latter used to be wholly a Republican; he is not much of a Republican now. We believe he is going to be 'licked to a frazzle' at Chicago."

Among the Indiana newspapers the Indianapolis Star leans to Roosevelt as a candidate who has been led to declare himself through "the lofty, patriotic and unselfish desire to serve the people and his conviction that he can serve them." It ventures no opinion as to his actual political strength. The Indianapolis News is convinced that "the sober judgment of the people of the United States is opposed to the third term, opposed to those Roosevelt political theories that are subversive of representative government and very strongly opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's way of dealing with the great office of President." The South Bend Tribune is anti-Roosevelt and defends the Taft administration as "measuring up to the standard of Progressive Republicanism," and the Lafayette Journal raises the third-term objection against Mr. Roosevelt, who is urging the Republican party to "repudiate Republican principles that have stood for half a century and turn against an administration that has carried out Republican promises."

To the Chicago Tribune of first importance is the matter of presidential direct primaries, in which it is in accord with Mr. Roosevelt, for "it will be a combination of folly and suicide to nominate a candidate who is not a choice of the people." The Chicago Inter-Ocean says that Republicans have a choice between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft, between a program of socialist revolution and constitutional government. "Neither this nation nor the Republican party," it declares, "is ready for a socialist revolution or a centralized industrial despotism with Theodore Roosevelt, or any man, as the despot."

The Record-Herald regards Mr. Taft as "a genuine, if moderate and careful, Progressive," and "a sincere, high-minded Executive," while Mr. Roosevelt stands for advanced radicalism in the party's policies and methods. The Chicago News is concerned principally with direct primaries, and thinks that the effort to secure Mr. Roosevelt's nomination "is resolving itself into an appeal to the people over the heads of the politicians."

In the Northwest.

In Michigan, whose Governor was one of the seven who appealed to Mr. Roosevelt to be a candidate, the Detroit News supports Mr. Roosevelt in sober fashion; the Detroit Journal is for Taft and strongly against Roosevelt. The Detroit Free Press emphasizes the third-term weakness of paramount importance; the Saginaw Courier-Herald declares Mr. Roosevelt to be "beyond doubt the strongest man before the people; in the popular sense, of any man in any party who measures up to the presidential size;" and the Battle Creek Enquirer deprecates his bid for a renomination, "which the party can not in fairness and good business policy give."

In Wisconsin there is considerable evidence of resentment against Mr. Roosevelt on the part of Progressive newspapers that supported Senator La Follette. The Milwaukee Journal remarks that "had Roosevelt been Progressive enough and unselfish enough to have gone into the fight openly for La Follette only a few weeks ago, Progressive Republicanism would have been doubtful." To the Milwaukee News the Roosevelt candidacy seems to go far toward assuring Democratic success. The Milwaukee Sentinel expresses sentiments unfriendly to Mr. Roosevelt as well as to Mr. Taft. The Free Press of the same city is staunchly pro-Taft, and says that the Taft administration has recorded "more constructive legislation and administrative progress along the lines of popularly desired reform than the two Roosevelt administrations. It regards Roosevelt in the role of a third-term candidate as the most pathetic figure which American politics has offered in many a day." The Evening Wisconsin sees in the Roosevelt views it adopted the end of the constitution and the rule of demagogues.

The Sioux City Tribune conceives that a situation might arise at Chicago where neither Taft nor Roosevelt would be nominated, and the convention might turn to Iowa's favorite son, Senator Cummins, "whose availability is greater than that of either Taft or Roosevelt, and whose devotion to the Progressive cause has been tested in a hundred battles." But as between Taft and Roosevelt its choice would be Taft. The Burlington Hawkeye pits Mr. Roosevelt and rebukes him for having broken his word.

Minnesota, another insurgent stronghold, through the voice of the Duluth News-Tribune, approves the Rooseveltian doctrine of recalling judicial decisions by popular vote, but the same newspaper can "see no present exigency demanding" the candidacy of Mr. Roosevelt, to whom it prefers Mr. Taft. The Duluth Herald foresees that it will be no easy matter to nominate Mr. Roosevelt. To the Minneapolis Journal the failures of the Taft administration are clear, but its successes have been so great as to outweigh its failures. The St. Paul Pioneer Press sums up its views by describing Mr. Roosevelt "as easily the most radical Republican President the country has had, and President Taft as perhaps the most conservative."

In Insurgent Territory.

In the insurgent dominions of Governors Hadley and Stubbs, of the St. Louis newspapers the Globe-Democrat thinks that Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy is a direct help to the Democratic party, and the Times denounces him for his faithlessness as a friend and politician. To Colonel William R. Nelson of the Kansas City Star Mr. Roosevelt is the one leader of the "plain people" since Lincoln. "If there is any man in the United States," says the Star, "through whom the people can triumph without direct primaries, it is Theodore Roosevelt." The Kansas City Journal says that the chances are "altogether against Roosevelt being the Republican nominee."

"The Revolution," says the Topeka Capital, "was fought out on the Declaration, not on the Constitution. If the Constitution is property's Bible, the Declaration is the common man's Bible. And because Roosevelt is for the Declaration when it comes in conflict with the Constitution, so the common man is for Roosevelt."

The Topeka State Journal holds that Mr. Taft's "record is one that entitles him to the support of all Republicans disposed to be fair," and minimizes the strength of the Progressive element for whom the seven Governors acted as spokesmen.

The Nebraska State Journal of Lincoln says that "surface indications point to the success of Roosevelt in every part of the West where the party machinery is under popular control," but it will require "a ground movement of the masses of the voters" throughout the country to elect Roosevelt after the nomination is made. The Omaha Journal declares that Mr. Taft "has a right to ask for the customary endorsement."

In the Far West.

On the Pacific Coast the Progressives count on making a strong showing. The Los Angeles Times and the San Francisco Chronicle, two of the leading newspapers of the state, are bitterly anti-Roosevelt. The Oakland Enquirer supports his views, the Sacramento Union attacks them. The San Francisco Bulletin declares that "only Roosevelt can lead the Progressives to victory."

In Oregon, the Portland Oregonian is only mildly Progressive, and speaks scornfully of the demagoguery of some of Mr. Roosevelt's Pacific Coast adherents, like Governor Johnson of California. The Portland Express "could forgive" Mr. Roosevelt's "astounding personal ambition sooner than we condone his treachery to his friend."

Morning Cable Report

WASHINGTON, March 21.—According to information given out at the navy department yesterday afternoon, the second and third divisions of the Asiatic fleet have been ordered combined with the China squadron at once.

NANKING, March 21.—Reports from all the sections of the southern provinces show that the country is quiet. Arrangements have been practically completed to move the cabinet to Peking next week. That city has finally been adopted as the capital of the new republic.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Officials of the local custom house last night seized one thousand tins of smoking opium on board the Matsen liner Honolulu. The stuff was consigned to Yee Ling Tai, of Honolulu. It was valued at about $70,000.

McCURTAIN, Oklahoma, March 21.—One hundred and five miners are entombed as the result of the explosion in the San Bois mine.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Tests were made at Sandy Hook yesterday of a new gun designed to attack aeroplanes. It is a four-inch caliber and twelve feet long. It throws a projectile weighing thirty-five pounds. The tests yesterday were successful.

NEW YORK, March 21.—In trial of officials of the sugar trust yesterday District Attorney Wise claimed that the trust had bought up 30 to 40 rival plants and closed them in every instance except four.

The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, in the adjoining state, condemns Mr. Roosevelt for lending the authority of his great name and his great influence to "the most sinister and revolutionary suggestion ever brought forward in this country—the recall of court decisions by popular vote."

The Columbus speech, says the Salt Lake City Tribune, "ranges Col. Roosevelt definitely and decidedly in favor of all those propositions, and makes him a firm ally and disciple of Senator Bourne, the fake statesman of Oregon," and the Salt Lake Herald feels no more kindly toward him. "It is commonly thought," says the Denver Republican, "that Col. Bryan got these theories from the Populists, yet the Socialists claim they were the original manufacturers," but in any event Mr. Roosevelt has made off with Col. Bryan's clothes.

Leaving out of consideration the South with its skeleton organizations of Republicans who are chiefly patronage-seekers, the plain verdict of the Republican and independent press from coast to coast is overwhelming in favor of Roosevelt. Of Roosevelt sentiment there are many vigorous expressions in sections classed in advance as Progressive, but in the aggregate they indicate no important change of political feeling since Mr. Roosevelt came into the open as a candidate against Mr. Taft. On the contrary, whatever change can be observed is decidedly in favor of the President. The Republicans nowhere give signs of a popular uprising to seat Mr. Roosevelt again in the White House as the savior of the party and the people.

You Can't Be Happy With a Headache

Probably more pleasure is spoiled because of headaches than from any other reason.

When your head aches it not only makes you unhappy but it is very apt to interfere with the pleasure of everyone else around you. One can't be expected to be very cheerful and pleasant when one's head is simply splitting.

And there is no need of suffering. Keep a box of

MOTHERHOOD SUGGESTIONS*Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.
